

Application deadline July 26 (Mon.) Free distribution of sanitary products ("Supporting Women's Bodies—Breeze Project")

Free distribution of sanitary products

The impact of the spread of COVID-19 (coronavirus disease) infections has also affected the financial situation of Keio students. In addition, there may also be students who are struggling in their daily life for other reasons.

The Office for Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion has launched the "Supporting Women's Bodies—Breeze Project," through which we will distribute sanitary products free of charge to female students enrolled at Keio who are dealing with insecurity in their daily lives.

We hope that the launch of this project will help you lead a more comfortable university life.

This initiative will be trialed until the end of July, and based on the results, we will consider the continuation and contents of the project from the Fall Semester onward.

Students wishing to receive the products must follow the instructions below and complete the procedures.

◆Eligible students:

Undergraduate and graduate students (only full-time degree students who take classes on campus are eligible)

◆How to apply for and receive the products:

Please apply via the form below.

After we have received your application, we will send you "Instructions on receiving the products" to your keio.jp e-mail account.
